Announcement

Reviewer of the month – November 2013: Mr Ali Coskun

I am working as a General Surgeon at Izmir Training and Research Hospital. For nearly 20 years, I have been training the General Surgery assistants at Izmir Training and Research Hospital. I believe that the transfer of experience to the young generation receiving the General Surgery Training is as important as the transfer of emerging knowledge and methods. I received my M.D. from Ege University Medical School (Izmir) in the year 1979. I completed my General Surgery Training at Izmir Training and Research Hospital in 1986. My areas of interest are colorectal surgery and hepatopancreatobiliary surgery. I have participated in many courses and certificate programs. I am also a reviewer and member of the editorial board for several journals. I have published more than 20 research papers in academic journals.
